

Population Connection Leadership Training Institute for New England Educators July 28-29, 2012

Are you interested in sharing dynamic, quality environmental education and human geography curricula with educators?

Since 1990, Population Connection has been hosting train-the-trainer institutes to prepare educators to facilitate workshops using our hands-on activities. During the Institute, we will

- Demonstrate a range of teaching activities,
- Share presentation ideas,
- Discuss the many social and ecological issues related to population growth and resource use.

The learning sessions and materials are designed to prepare educators to present population education workshops to teachers and future teachers in New England. The Institute is a must for:

- Science, social studies and math education faculty,
- Nonformal educators who work with teachers at zoos and nature centers, and
- K-12 teachers who present professional development workshops

Participants will receive:

- an extensive handbook of teaching materials,
- activity correlations to national and state content standards
- the latest edition of our award-winning "dot" video, World Population and much more.

Population Connection is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Our Population Education Program has been developing K-12 curricula and facilitating teacher workshops since 1975. Visit us at www.populationeducation.org.

Questions? Contact Pam Wasserman at pam@popconnect.org; 1-800-767-1956

The Institute will be held at the Wylie Inn and Conference Center at Endicott College, along the picturesque North Shore in Beverly, MA.

What's Covered:

For those chosen to attend the Institute, Population Connection will cover two nights lodging at the Wylie Inn for Friday and Saturday, as well as breakfasts and lunches on Saturday and Sunday. A travel reimbursement of up to $100 will be available to defray mileage costs.

How to Apply:

Visit www.populationeducation.org to download and submit the application form. Space is limited and slots for facilitator trainings always fill up quickly. Priority will be given to those applicants who will have clear opportunities during the 2012-2013 school year and beyond to facilitate workshops. Application deadline is April 1, 2012.

Here's what participants from the 2011 Leadership Institute (Washington, DC) had to say . . .

"I haven't been to a better workshop! I can't wait to incorporate the activities into my undergrad and grad classes this coming semester."

~Education Faculty Member, SUNY-Fredonia

"Please accept my thanks and appreciation to you and your entire staff for the wonderful training weekend. It was truly well organized and informative. The hospitality was great and it was fun to network with so many different people."

~School Administrator, Lewisville, TX

"Thank you for a wonderful weekend. This is a first class organization run by wonderfully committed people. I hope to remain associated with your group for a long time."

~Education Faculty Member, University of North Carolina, Wilmington

"Thank you so much for allowing me the opportunity to be part of such a fantastic group of educators -- I have returned home energized and filled with excitement about all that Population Connection aims to do for our world! It was wonderful being able to "step outside" of my own small community/region and network with others who are dedicated to education. I will work hard to find opportunities to share and expand this vital information."

~Elementary Teacher, Chattanooga, TN

"Thank you so much for making the training session so meaningful, professional, enjoyable, and stimulating! I look forward to our continued work together."

~Education Faculty Member, California State University, Fullerton

"It was a wonderful institute and you and your planning group should take great pride in a job well done. I consider myself so fortunate to have spent quality time with outstanding colleagues and staff even for a short time. From my personal perspective I was impressed by the extensive backgrounds brought to the table and the research base for the curriculum."

~Education Faculty Member, University of Akron

Population Connection Education Program
www.populationeducation.org

The Wylie Inn and Conference Center at Endicott College is conveniently located within easy driving distance from most cities in New England.

Boston, MA	20 miles
Manchester, NH	60 miles
Worcester, MA	70 miles
Providence, RI	90 miles
Concord, NH	90 miles
Portland, ME	95 miles
Springfield, MA	110 miles
Hartford, CT	120 miles
Burlington, VT	245 miles